Father Jim's Wise & "Otherwise"

AUG. 30, 2026: Faithful people tend to live longer

Faith can be good medicine.

Studies say practicing your faith can play a part in how long a person lives or fights disease.

Dr. Harold Koenig talked about faith, healing and long life at the Spiritual Care Center at Crouse Hospital in Syracuse. He said the link between faith and physical and mental well-being has been found in more than 1,200 scientific studies.

"We don't have this much evidence on aspirin and headaches," Koenig said.

Study after study shows those who lead a life of faith that is practiced regularly tend to live longer; when they do get sick, they get well faster and have shorter hospital stays.

This doesn't mean that bad things don't happen to religious people — they are not immune to what life puts on their plate; however, the proven fact that they can live seven to 14 years longer than non-religious people is important.

"The way we think and feel and believe affects our physical health dramatically," Koenig said. "Faith can help us to cope and deal with so much and to be peaceful ... to forgive and not hold a grudge."

All this reminds us of the close union of body, mind and soul.

The Feast of Santa Rosalia will be held on Saturday, August 29th from 5:00 to 10:00 PM at the Chapel on the corner of Jay and Mohawk Streets in Utica. There will be a special mass on Sunday August 30th at 11:00 AM at St. Mary of Mt Carmel/Blessed Sacrament Church followed by a street procession and pasta dinner.
