Third Sunday of Easter

Father Jim's Wise & "Otherwise"

Years ago, an old municipal lamplighter, engaged in putting out his lights one by one, was met by a reporter who asked him if he never grew tired of his work in the cold, dark night of labor.

"Never am I cheerless," said the old man, "for there is always a light ahead of me to lead me on."

"But what do you have to cheer you when you have put out the last light?" asked the reporter.

"Then comes the dawn," replied the lamplighter.

A man of the world might have asked Jesus the same question. One light after another did he put out — the lamp of popular acclaim, the lamp of patriotic approval, the lamp of ecclesiastical conformity — all for the sake of God's love, which burned in his heart and showed him a better way. At last, even the light of his life was to flicker out on the hill called Calvary.

What then?

We hear his voice, "Into thy hands I commend my spirit." and then dawn came.

In Eastertime, or anytime, kids say the best things. One little boy named Danny said, "Atheists are people who don't believe in God. I don't think there are any in my town, at least there aren't any, who come to our church."

Another boy remarked, "You should always go to church on Sunday because it makes God happy, and if there's anybody you want to make happy, it's God! If you don't believe in God besides being an atheist, you'll be lonely because your parents can't go everywhere with you, like summer camp, but God can."

Finally, a little girl spoke true wisdom: "God makes people, but only babies because they're easier to make than the full grown, grownups. That way God can spend his valuable time doing other things. He doesn't have to teach babies to talk or walk or how to live, he just leaves that to mothers and fathers."
